

Digital Bookmobile

On February 16, 2010, the State Library hosted a visit by the Overdrive Digital Bookmobile. Based in Cleveland, Ohio and owned by Overdrive, the touring vehicle explains and promotes their audio and e-book services made available through the State Library and several other libraries in the Valley in a collaboration known as the Greater Phoenix Digital Library.

The Digital Bookmobile was advertised through press releases and flyers prior to the event, and then promoted by the Overdrive staff through news interviews from Fox News (Channel 10) and ABC (Channel 15).

Secretary of State Ken Bennett and State Librarian GladysAnn Wells welcomed people to the event and were among the first to tour the bookmobile. Agency staff greeted over 200 state employees and members of the public who visited the bookmobile that day. Around 30 of those visiting also signed up for library cards in order to use more of our remote services.
